

Keeping You Informed

Union organizers make many promises they can't guarantee when they ask for your support or for you to sign a card or online petition.

The union is legally allowed to make promises they can't keep, use misinformation and withhold the facts of what it means to be in a union when they are campaigning for your support.

According to National Nurses United's Constitution:

Full-time RNs pay 2.2 times their hourly rate, up to $117 per month. That's $1,404.00 a year for some nurses.

Part-time/per diem RNs working 12 hours per week or less per pay period pay 50% of the full-time rate. That's up to $702 a year for some nurses.

According to NNU's constitution, the union will increase dues as follows: "The maximum amount (cap) of regular direct member dues shall increase based on the average wage increase in the preceding calendar year at the three (3) NNU-directly represented or NNU Affiliate-represented facilities with the highest RN base rate wages."

To calculate how much a union could cost you if you paid monthly NNU dues and to see NNU's constitution, visit PSFacts.com

To get more information, visit PSFacts.com
or scan the QR code

